4. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The carrying amounts of cash, term deposits, accounts receivable and accounts payable approximates their fair value because of the short-term maturities of these items.

5. STATEMENT OF CASH FLOW

The statement of cash flow has not been presented as it does not provide additional useful information.

6. MEASUREMENT UNCERTAINTY

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles require management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenue and expenses during the reported period. These estimates are reviewed periodically, and, as adjustments become necessary, they are reported in earnings in the period in which they become known.
