CANADIAN BRIDGE FEDERATION MISSION STATEMENT: The mission of the Canadian Bridge Federation is to promote bridge within Canada and protect and advance the national interests of Canadian bridge, including the selection and support of Canadian bridge teams and players for international bridge competition.

letter from the president =

Osteoporosis is a disease characterized by low bone mass and deterioration of bone tissue which lead to increased bone fragility and risk of fracture. At least one in four people will suffer from an osteoporotic fracture during their lifetime. Osteoporosis Canada, a registered charity, is the only national organization serving people who have, or are at risk for, osteoporosis.

I am pleased to announce Bridge Across Canada which is an innovative event, organized by Osteoporosis Canada and endorsed by the CBF. Bridge Across Canada is a pledge-driven event that invites bridge players to raise critically needed funds for Osteoporosis Canada. A pilot of the event has started at Hazel's Bridge Club in Toronto. Not only will participants be helping a worthy charity while being educated about the disease, but they will also have a chance to win significant prizes including a Caribbean bridge cruise hosted by Audrey Grant. To learn more about osteoporosis and Bridge Across Canada please visit www.osteoporosis.ca.

Bridge Across Canada is an exciting and innovative event that invites bridge players to pursue their passion while raising funds for Osteoporosis Canada. Endorsed by the Canadian Bridge Federation, Bridge Across Canada (BAC) participants meet weekly to enjoy a bridge game, garner fundraising tips from experts and gain further insight into Osteoporosis Canada's campaign to Bridge the Care Gap in Canada.

Participants raise critically needed funds to promote education and awareness to the 2 million Canadians living with osteoporosis. Donations of $10 are tax receiptable. Call Robin at 416-696-2663 ext. 260 or email BAC@osteoporosis.ca or visit the website for more information

KATHIE MACNAB ZONE 1

Bridge is alive and well in the Maritimes with our own STaC in early January, drawing a very large club participation. Work is now underway for everyone's favourite Canadian Atlantic Regional Tournament.

Due to our tremendous hospitality, grand playing venue and efforts by our Tournament chairman (this year, Gerry Callaghan) our tournament has grown in leaps and bounds over the past few years. And this year promises to be even bigger. If you have not had the opportunity to visit the Maritimes, come this summer (June 26th - July 1st) to our tournament and stay for a visit - you will love it!

www.unit194.org

Zone 1 lost one of its most loved bridge players - the Maritimes' first Diamond Life Master and only Emerald Life Master, Joe Currie. On February 3rd the Maritimes celebrated Joe with the Joe Currie Memorial Tournament. The attendance for this tournament was at capacity and the entire tournament was enjoyed by all thanks to the chairmanship of Dan Landry.

As a tribute to Joe, a special Flight D category for 49ers was offered including a reception for all the new players and Maritime Bridge Teachers. The winners of the Joe Currie Non-Life Masters Pairs were Diane Livingstone and Valerie McClintock.

The presentation was made by Joe's sons John and Doug Currie. Congratulations to all.

This is a tremendous opportunity for young bridge players to travel the world, make new friends and become world class bridge players.

he CBF is sponsoring a bridge program for Canada's Juniors. There is an 21 or younger category and a 25 or younger category (formerly 26 or younger). The reward for participating and being selected to represent Canada is playing in a tournament against competition from all over the world. The next competition is in Tai Cang City, China this summer.

The World Junior Championships are held every 2 years. In 2010, Canada participated in Philadelphia, USA. Prior competitions were held in Beijing, China (2008); Bangkok, Thailand (2006); Sydney, Australia (2005); Paris, France (2003); Mangaratiba, Brazil (2001); Fort Lauderdale, USA (1999); Hamilton, Canada (1997); Bali, Indonesia (1995); Arhus, Denmark (1993); Ann Arbour, USA (1991); Nottingham, England (1989); and Amsterdam, Netherlands (1987).

The CBF Junior Bridge Program has been active for many years. These images are taken from the archives. To see more images of CBF juniors at World Championships visit our Photo Gallery: www.cbf.ca choose Junior Bridge from the left menu.

This is a tremendous opportunity for young bridge players to travel the world, make new friends and become world class bridge players. With the advent of social networking, there are also international competitions held on sites such as BBO. One of the best coaches in the world, Eric Kokish, provides his valuable input.

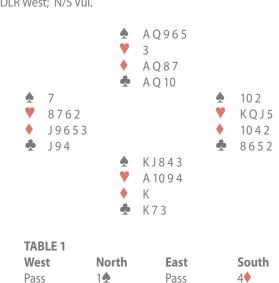

The CBF Junior Program is growing and evolving. We need volunteers to help. Please contact Bryan Maksymetz if you wish to help - maks@shaw.ca.

The South hand has several options over North's 1\(\rightarrow\) opening. At Table 1, the splinter left North as captain and the 6\(\rightarrow\) ended the auction. It actually works best on this hand if South does the asking. A splinter with a singleton King may be correct, but a Jacoby 2NT raise works well. What is your choice with the South hand and why?

Eric Kokish: At Table 1 if South shows 2 Keycards plus the Φ Q (or 5+ Φ), North bids 5NT and South 6 Φ (Φ K), so 7 Φ is easy.

Bid this hand with your partner and see how you would

JACOBY 2NT REPONSE STRUCTURE

Here is a summary of the responses to Jacoby 2NT that I play with most partners. Note the Short Low (SL), Short Middle (SM), Short High (SH) are "step" responses:

Opener Responder

1♥/1♠ 2NT (Jacoby 2NT)

Responses to 2NT Jacoby

3♣ = minimum unbalanced

3♦ asks: Respond: SL (3♥), SM (3♠), SH (3NT)

 $3 \blacklozenge = balanced, 15+$

3♥ asks: Respond: 3♠ = 5422 [3NT asks for 4 card suit: LMH] 3NT = 5332; 4♠ = 6322

3 = SL (), 15+

3NT = SH (other Major), 15+

 $4 - 4 = a \mod 5$ card minor (or void if you choose)

Ask Caley is a regular column in Bridge Canada. We invite you to send your questions to Sylvia by email to editor@cbf.ca ear Caley. My partner and I have been having a number of problems on defense. There are lots of times when I play attitude and he takes it as count or visa versa. Are there any general rules to fix this problem?

Montreal, Quebec

Dear Harriet

Harriet Cooper

Martin would say, "Of course, the simple rule is to read EDDIE!" Martin would be referring to the defensive classics Modern Bridge Defense and Advanced Bridge Defense both by Edwin Kantar. It's a fabulous book and covers all phases of defense.

The shorter answer is that defensive carding is a matter of partnership agreement. In general this is what I like to play:

ASK CALEY

Bridge has been good to me. In the ACBL I was Senior Master of the Year in 1982. In 1983 I won my first NABC event, the North American Swiss. I remember as a young player I played a club game with my Venice Beach paddle tennis partner. He had a little pad and wrote down every little error I made. Dearest Eddie (Kantar) ... I was only a beginner. Over the years I've also had the opportunity to play with Bob Hamman, Bobby Goldman, Mark Lair, Mike Lawrence, Boris Baran, Dorothy Truscott and Charlie Coon to name a few. My National Titles include the North American Swiss twice and Canadian Women's Team Trials once. Possibly the nicest compliment I've ever received was from Mike Passell when he said, "If you could play on a team of Sylvia times 4 you would do very well."

When partner lead a suit
When declarer lead a suit
1st discard in a suit
Later discards of that suit

Attitude Count Attitude Count

Partner and I lead King from AKx or longer except at the 5 level or higher we lead the Ace. From AK tight (2 cards only) we lead the Ace and then the King so that partner knows that the opening leader is interested in a ruff.

There are a number of things that you may choose to play when declarer leads trump. One popular treatment is to play suit preference in trump. I simply play high low in trumps to show that I have another one and am interested in a ruff.

Dear Caley,

I never know which suit to bid first when partner makes a takeout double of one of a minor. If the auction begins 1♣, double by partner, pass by third hand, what do you bid first with 2 or 3 four card suits?

Jennifer O'Reilly

Kingston, Ontario

Dear Jennifer

Selecting a suit to bid over a takeout double is more dependent on your point count than it is on your suit quality.

With hand A I would definitely bid 1♦. With this hand you simply want to get out as cheaply as possible. With B I would bid 1♠ because the major suit fit is the most important. With C I would bid 2♣ to ask partner to choose the suit.

With hand D I would again bid 1♠, trying to get out (and leaving plenty of room for others to come in!)

With hand E bid $1 \clubsuit$. You may get to bid $2 \heartsuit$ on the next round if the auction comes back to you. With F go ahead and bid $2 \clubsuit$ to ask partner for future information. If he bids diamonds you will bid spades.

Dear Caley,

I've been playing bridge for a number of years. I'm far past the beginner stage but my game seems to have leveled off. Could you recommend any books for the advancing player?

Bill Chance,

Cornwall, Ontario

When we asked Caley to send us some images for our nice new magazine layout, she sent this picture titled 'Little Elle'.

My favorite authors are probably Kelsey and Reese. I particularly enjoyed Countdown to Better Bridge, by Hugh Kelsey.

Other books you might look at include:

Positive Defence by Terence Reese & Julian Pottage
Positive Declarer's Play by Terence Reese & Julian Pottage
Contested Auction by Mike Lawrence
Opening Lead by Mike Lawrence
Test Your Bridge Play by Edwin Kantar
A New Approach to Play and Defense by Edwin Kantar

And now we have a final quote from Martin, "READ EDDIE AGAIN!"

This year, the Canadian Bridge Federation will induct four Canadians into the CBF Hall of Fame in a ceremony at the Canadian Bridge Championships in Montreal.

William Anderson

Bill Anderson may be the least-known member of the CBF Hall of Fame, but he has been the most influential. It is no exaggeration to say that Bill has influenced every single bridge player in the world. He did this through his development of the distributional point count for Charles Goren. In the mid-Forties, Charlie came to Bill, a long-time friend and brilliant mathematician, and asked Anderson to undertake the mathematical research needed to prove whether a hand's trick-taking potential could be totally evaluated for suit bidding as well as no-trump bidding, on a point-count basis. The problem with the 4-3-2-1 Work point count was that it was fine for no-trump bidding with balanced hands, but was notoriously-inaccurate for suit evaluation. At the time, nearly all players still used the Culbertson honour-trick method of evaluating their hands for suit bidding.

Bill spent two years working on the problem. His first task was to verify whether the Work point count method was accurate – he discovered that, although it could be bettered slightly mathematically, the combination of its simplicity and accuracy could not be improved upon. He then set about resolving Goren's main issue – how to evaluate hands for suit bidding. Bill thus developed the 3-2-1 point scheme for evaluating hands with voids, singletons and doubletons respectively.

Goren paid homage to Anderson in his book "Point Count Bidding in Contract Bridge" (Simon & Shuster, 1949). From the Introduction to that work:

"It required a great deal of study and experimentation. But, with the assistance of William M. Anderson of Toronto, head of one of Canada's foremost life insurance companies and an actuary of great renown, I was able to develop a scale of values which will work effectively in an overwhelming majority of hands."

"It was he who devised the distributional point-count that is still the basis of what most people teach and play"

"It is appropriate to make acknowledgement, here, to all those who have contributed both directly and indirectly to this effort .. Above all, to William M. Anderson, who not only is the last word where mathematical problems are concerned, but whose broad understanding of the fundamental theories of the game I was able to put to very practical use."

On Saturday, August 22, 1981, in "Goren on Bridge," his newspaper column, Goren discussed the development of point-count bidding as follows:

"...I took my problem to a friend of mine who was an actuary – Bill Anderson of Toronto. It was he who devised the distributional point-count that, in conjunction with the Milton Work count, is still the basis of what most people teach and play today...the only thing I am sorry about in the whole matter is that the great amount of work put into point-count bidding by Bill Anderson, and the accuracy and simplicity of his concepts, has not been fully recognized."

Bill Anderson was an acknowledged genius: he graduated from the University of Toronto with honours in mathematics and physics, joined the North American Life Assurance Company upon graduation and soon become the youngest-ever actuary in Canada. He rose to president, then chairman, of North American Life and became president of both the Canadian Institute of Actuaries and the U.S.-based Society of Actuaries. He was awarded a fellowship in the Faculty of Actuaries of Scotland in 1944, only 14 of which had been awarded since the Faculty's inception more than 100 years before. Bill was responsible for developing and introducing the Code of Professional Conduct for actuaries, putting the profession on the same footing as the medical and legal professions.

Oswald Jacoby, at the time the youngest-ever American to become an actuary, once declared about Bill Anderson:

CBF 2012 HALL OF FAME INDUCTION

"I used to claim I was the best actuary among bridge players but quickly abandoned that claim after meeting Bill Anderson, after which I claimed only to be the best bridge player among actuaries."

Anderson was a successful player, Life Master No. 357, partnering his wife Marjorie most of the time, and winning a North American Bridge Championship (NABC) with her. Here is Bill in action on a deal reported in Charlie Goren's bridge column:

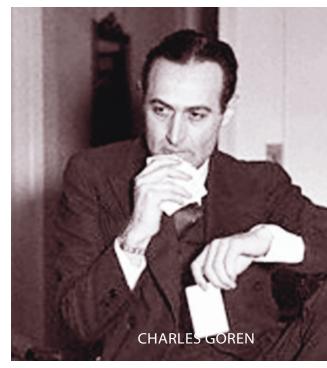

"The 4-3-2-1 point count was introduced by Bryant McCampbell in 1915 and publicized by Milton Work in his many writings. However, it was used almost only for no-trump bidding. It was not until a Toronto actuary, William Anderson, developed the distributional count in the 40's that point count swept the bridge world."

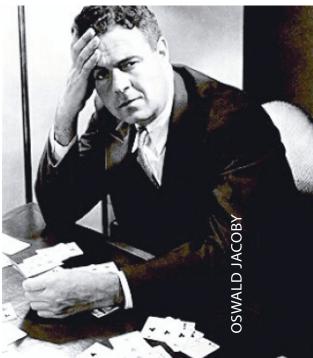

"Besides his fascination with the mathematical aspects of bridge, Anderson was an accomplished player. He held the West cards on today's hand..."

DLR East; E/W Vul.

Anderson led the spade queen, won in the dummy. Declarer led a club towards the King but ducked it to West's 10. Anderson found the only continuation to sink the contract: the king of diamonds. Declarer won the ace, but now a club ruff would bring West's trump jack back into play and no club ruff would result in two more club losers.

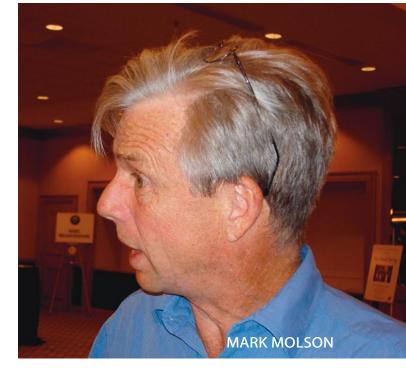

Just as Milton Work popularized the 4-3-2-1 count developed by Bryant McCampbell, Charles Goren popularized Anderson's 3-2-1 count. "Point Count Bidding in Contract Bridge" was a runaway bestseller, eventually selling more than three million copies. There were 12 reprintings in its first five years and it was translated into many languages. William Anderson belongs with the most-influential figures in the game, alongside Work, Culbertson and Goren.

Boris Baran and Mark Molson

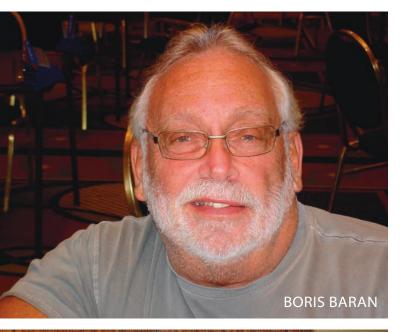

As the names of Romulus and Remus, Héloise and Abélard and Lewis and Clark are forever linked in history, the names of "Mark and Boris" are forever entwined in Canadian bridge. Although many of their successes came as partners, they were both successful with others as well. Mark and Boris won six Canadian National Team Championships (CNTC), one Canadian Open Pairs Championship and four North American Bridge Championships together. They came second in the 1995 Bermuda Bowl, second in the 1992 Pan-American Games and tied for third in the 1990 Rosenblum, being denied a place in the final by a scoring error, the correction disallowed upon appeal, one of the most notorious incidents in World Bridge Federation history.

Mark won two more NABCs with other partners, the Reisinger and the Blue Ribbon Pairs, and Boris has won a Senior World Team Championship, a fifth NABC, a seventh CNTC and four Canadian Senior Team Championships "The Thugs", so-called affectionately by their teammates for their style of bludgeoning the opposition into submission.

with other partners. Mark won the Richmond Trophy as top Canadian masterpoint winner five times. It is entirely appropriate that Mark and Boris be inducted into the CBF Hall of Fame together. Mark died in 2006 of complications during heart surgery following a massive heart attack while playing the other game he loved, golf.

During their run at the 1995 Bermuda Bowl in Beijing, Mark and Boris became known as "The Thugs", so-called, affectionately, by their teammates for their style of bludgeoning the opposition into submission. The following deal, from their quarterfinal match against South Africa, illustrates that style:

That was a lot of bidding for two balanced hands with half the high cards! At the other table, Gitelman and Mittelman ("The Men") had declared 2NT untroubled and had gone one off on a diamond lead, for minus 50. Here, with more to go on, Molson started the spade jack, won in dummy. Cope had no convenient entry to hand to lead a heart up, so started with the heart king; Molson won the ace and continued spades.

Cope won that and played a second heart, achieving the unluckiest of results, low from Baran. After much consideration, declarer went with the odds and inserted the heart nine. Molson won the ten and shifted to the jack of clubs, won by the queen in dummy. A third heart, won by the queen, let Baran cash three spades and lead a club through the king for plus 500 and 12 IMPs to Canada. The correct heart guess would have meant minus 180 and 6 IMPs to South Africa.

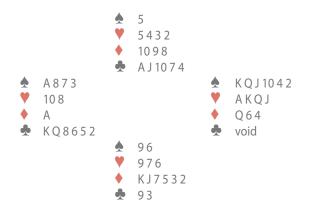

Peter Nagy

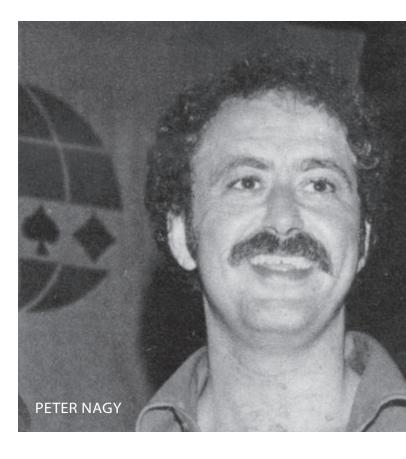

Peter Nagy was part of the young group of Montréal players mentored by Sam Gold. He performed the unique feat of coming second twice in the World Open Pairs, each time with a different partner, and both times losing to the same player, Marcelo Branco of Brazil. Each time, Branco also played with a different partner. Peter won four NABCs, two CNTCs and a bronze medal in the Rosenblum Teams.

Peter immigrated to Canada in 1957 in a hair-raising escape from Budapest during the Hungarian Revolution; he mastered English so quickly that he became his high school class valedictorian in Montréal in 1961. After graduating from Princeton University he entered the options market in New York, then Chicago, before retiring to Las Vegas to play the other game he loved, poker. Like Mark Molson, he died in 2003 after suffering a heart attack playing poker, his second-favourite game, at the Bellagio in Las Vegas.

Peter was renowned for his conservatism in the bidding, preferring to win his points with terrific card play. He once agreed that he needed a hand that most players would open with a strong two bid in order for him to jump shift. Despite that, Peter won the 1978 Romex Award for the Best Bid Hand of the Year with one of his favourite partners, Eric Kokish. On that hand, they got to a solid, making slam despite an opening bid and response being made before they entered the auction. Their effort on the following deal, from the 1978 World Pair Olympiad in New Orleans was equally as brilliant...

THE ART OF SLAM BIDDING THE FINAL TEST

Many IMPs (and matchpoints) can be generated by being consistently right in bidding and making slams.

oth vulnerable at matchpoints you hold

A K Q 105 ♥4 ♦ Q J 9 7 6 ♣ K 5

The bidding starts:

West	North	East	South
			1♠
pass	2♦	pass	3♥*
pass	3NT	pass	?

* Splinter raise with four + diamonds, does not promise extra values.

Do you make another slam move, or give up and pass?

Slam bidding is an art. Many IMPs (and matchpoints) can be generated by being consistently right in bidding and making slams. But it's hard! A tiny slip will cause an 11 or 13 IMP loss. And Grand Slams are similar to what high-rise construction workers have been known to say 'It is very scary at the top!' It has even happened to me where we have bid a grand for -50 and our partners are defending against game! Once we lost 6 IMPs when we were in 7 down one and our opponents bid all the way up to 3 !!

Besides fortitude and sound partnership agreements there is a tremendous amount of judgment required to be a successful slam bidder. Some of the indicators to help you make the right judgments:

- A strong trump holding
- Source of tricks, either with extra trumps (5-5 fit or better) or a strong side suit.
- Controls
- No indication of bad splits, as with preemptive or two suited bidding by the opponents.
- Strength of holdings consistent with partner's expectations.

However once you have gone through this analysis, there is one other factor to consider, and this is the number of key cards you hold. Despite a plethora of high cards if you are holding insufficient aces and trump honours you should be cautious in your invitations. This might not sound like an earth shaking tip. However there is a corollary that is less well known (In fact I don't recall seeing it in other bridge literature I have read):

On a slam invitational auction, partner will take another call after a sign-off when he is rich in key cards, no matter what his strength.

So let's go back to the original problem. You have:

- A very nice 15 HCPs
- Ruffing values
- Five card trump support, with a guaranteed 10+ card fit.

Fortitude, sound partnership agreements and a tremendous amount of judgment is required to be a successful slam bidder.

But you have only two of the six key cards. Another way of looking at it: Do you think partner will sign off in 3NT with three aces? Or two aces with the trump king? No.

A local expert on the hand given, bid $4 \spadesuit$. And partner, who could not have held a better hand, simply bid the slam with $4 \spadesuit 4 \heartsuit KQJ \spadesuit K10842 \spadesuit AQJ5. Down one.$

Here is another example, from the Bridge World Challenge the Champs, October, 1993.

Neither Vul., at matchpoints, the East-West hands were:

- ♠ 943♥ AK10873♦ 5
- ♣ A65

- ▲ AKJ76
- ♥ 62♦ KQ10

Becker - Rubin effortlessly relayed to the best spot, 3NT. Zia – Rosenberg had this auction:

Rosenberg	Zia
1♥	1♠
2♠¹	2NT ²
3 ♥ ³	4♣ ^{4/8}
4 ♦ ⁴	4NT ⁵
5 ∀ ⁶	5 ♠ ⁷
All Pass

- 1 Reasonable choice, especially in their system
- 2 Relay, asking for shape.
- 3 3-6 shape in the majors, non forcing
- 4 Cue bid
- 5 Key Card
- 6 Two, no trump queen

7 In Challenge the Champs this will not be a good score

8 Here Zia got enamoured by his 15 HCPs. He neglected to ask himself two "Final Test" questions:

'Can partner have what I need for his non-forcing 3♥ call?'

'If partner actually held the ♠Q, ♥A K and the ♦A do I think he would actually pass had I signed off in 4∇ or 4Φ , instead of bidding 4NT?'

One final example, with Jimmy Cayne successfully applying "The Final Test":

- ΚO ♠ A82 ♥ 643 AQ752 ♦ KQ8 • 01093 AKJ5 Burger Cayne 1 🖤 2 3V1 3 Pass²
- 1 At least somewhat slammish

2 Cayne looked at his 17 HCPs, with a known double fit, and asked himself:

'Would my partner simply sign off with a hand that can make slam such as:

He discovered the obvious correct answer "no", and made the right decision and passed 4.

Lessons to Learn

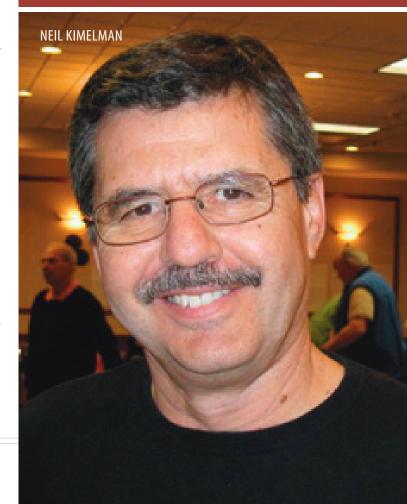

When deciding whether or not to bid above the game level in a slam investigation auction, visualize the controls partner needs for slam to make, and ask yourself,

If he held those cards would he have signed off in game on the actual auction?'

High cards are good, but you need sufficient controls to investigate and bid slams.

In a game forcing auction a raise below game (such as the 3 bid in Example #3) is at least somewhat slammish.

HOUDINI WOULD BE PROUD

Harry Houdini was a famous Hungarianborn American magician and escape artist, escaping often from dangerous situations.

SOS is the distress signal sent when impending disaster is about to strike.

In Bridge, the SOS Redouble is a rescue bid asking partner to find another suit in order to avoid a costly penalty.

The other day in a team match Susan Culham (West) playing with Maurice de la Salle (East) used just such a bid to escape from an impending disaster.

Playing Teams.

Board 10. Dealer East. Both sides vulnerable. Susan Culham as West held:

♠ Q 10 9 6 ♥ J 9 6 3 ♦ void ♣ A J 10 8 7

The auction:

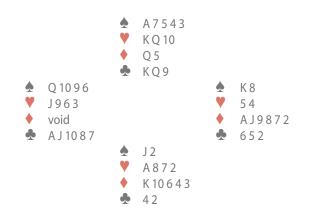

West	North	East	South
-	-	2♦*	Pass
Pass	Dbl	Pass	pass
Rdbl	Pass	3♣	Pass
Pass	Dbl	All Pass

- 2♦ Weak.
-  Redouble: The SOS Redouble is a rescue bid, asking partner to bid another suit in order to avoid a costly penalty.

Looking at her diamond void, Susan knew she had to run from two diamonds doubled. By using the SOS redouble she asked Maurice to bid his second best suit.

Like a good partner, Maurice bid three clubs, that too was doubled for penalty.

DLR: East Vul: Both

South found the best lead, the $\,\psi_4$, ten, queen and two. North switched to the ♥K, four from East. South facing a problem, chose to follow with an 'upside-down' two. North switched to ♦ 5, ace, three and dummy tossed the six of hearts. Maurice (East) now played the five of hearts from his hand, South jumped up with his ace in order to continue with the club attack. Three of clubs, won by the ace in dummy, nine and five. Maurice played the jack of hearts, covered by the king and ruffed with the six of clubs. He then rode the eight of spade, two, six, around to the ace. North cashed the ΦQ , Maurice discarded the two of diamonds, four of diamonds and seven of clubs. Queen of diamond, seven, six and dummy ruffed with the eight of clubs. Maurice played the nine of spades, seven, king dropped the doubleton jack, made the rest of the dummy's spades good.

Maurice was able to claim eight tricks, down one for -200. While at the other table.

West	North	East	South
-	-	3♦	Pass
Pass	Dbl	All Pass

East's enterprising three diamond opening bid was doubled by North for takeout and converted by South for penalty. He was punished for a three-trick set, -800.
